Product Case Study

Providence Baptist Church, Ooltewah, TN

Struggling with a legacy projector that required constant maintenance, Providence Baptist Church in Ooltewah, Tennessee recently sought an upgrade. Hitachi was able to provide that upgrade with two CP-X8160 projectors for the church's main sanctuary. The projectors are used for everything from announcements to videos to PowerPoint presentations for the entire church community.

When looking for the perfect projector, Pastor John D. Jones had two main requirements: performance and value. "We needed a projector with clear images that fit into our price range," said Pastor Jones. "The image on the CP-X8160 is bright and clear and the colors are vivid."

Ease of use was another important factor when choosing the perfect projector. "The ability to change bulbs and access all service compartments without having to de-mount the projectors was crucial," Pastor Jones added.

The two Hitachi projectors are located on either side of the pulpit, making it possible for every church member to see the screens regardless of where they are seated.

The Hitachi projectors have been a huge upgrade for Providence Baptist Church. "The comments we have received about the new projectors have been overwhelmingly positive," said Pastor Jones. "Members of the congregation are surprised and impressed with the quality of our services and presentations."
